St. Albert Pair Fined For City Store Theft

Abraham Pepin and his pal, Alex Durocher, both of St. Albert, bought a five-cent shopping bag at a city department store Thursday. They then obtained a package of bacon and a can of processed meat, which they didn't pay for, using the shopping bag to carry the articles. They then went to the drug counter of the store and attempted to buy a bottle of rubbing alcohol. The clerk would not oblige and they were arrested as they left.

In police court Friday, Pepin pleaded guilty to a charge of theft while Durocher was convicted after entering a plea of "not guilty."

Durocher claimed he wasn't guilty because he didn't steal the bacon and other meat; he only carried the bag in which it was carried after it was deposited, he said.

The store detective, who followed the men after they entered the store, informed the court that at the top of the escalator, the shopping bag changed hands and Durocher approached the drug counter for the "rubby."

Questioned in court as to why the rubbing alcohol was required, Durocher replied, "I use it all the time," adding as he rubbed his left leg, "I have a bad leg."

Also in the shopping bag when the two were arrested were one egg and one onion. Although the presence of the two articles was not explained, the men were not accused of stealing them.

Summing up, Magistrate Millar said both men were equally guilty and fined Durocher $25 and costs or 35 days in jail and Pepin $30 and costs or six weeks. Both had records.

An Impressive Leader

One thing in particular has impressed us in the current election campaign.

That is, that despite the frantic armwaving and noisy accusations of the various political party leaders, Prime Minister St. Laurent has remained calm, but nevertheless vigorous and direct—a statesman rather than a politician.

That's why we particularly like the following editorial in the May 28 issue of the Toronto Star Weekly:

Canada's prime minister, the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, is a man of unusual personal charm. He is not pompous, does not stand on dignity, and is cordial to those who wish to see him on business. In short, he is a thorough gentleman. His courtesy is instinctive and not cultivated for political purposes.

UNIVERSITY PRESS BUREAU

The University of Alberta is to be congratulated for its formation of a Press Bureau.

Not only are the University's 11,000 graduates interested in hearing more about their Alma Mater, but the people of Alberta are interested in, and should hear more about, their University.

The University, besides being the province's cultural centre, is the seat of much scientific research.

Its graduates are the trained citizens of Alberta who will aid this province in becoming more prosperous materially and culturally.

The people should hear more of their University, and the formation of the Press Bureau will undoubtedly ensure that they will.

Showers End Fire Ordeal

Weary Firefighters Rest After Two-Week Battle

Rain showers spreading out over northern Alberta this week are expected to end one of the worst forest fire ordeals experienced in the north country.

By Wednesday, after three days of intermittent rain, forestry officials stated most Alberta forest fires were under control. Although rains were light in the northland, they were enough to aid weary firefighters bring the two big fires in the Lac la Biche and Lesser Slave Lake areas under control.

There was still a lot of work to be done, digging up smoldering ground fires, clearing lanes with bulldozers and rebuilding burned-down homes and installations. But, if luck held, no further major outbreaks were likely.

175 FIRES

The tinder-dry condition of the countryside since April had set off 175 fires this spring, forestry officials revealed. In the Slave Lake area alone, 15 families (74 persons) were made homeless by the fires.

As early as May 9 anxious government officials cracked down on fire regulations and finally enforced a ban on clearing lands by fire.

RAILWAY CUT

By May 11, 24 separate fires were being fought, with big blazes springing up west, north and east of Slave Lake. Spreading rapidly, the Slave Lake fires cut railway and telegraph links on the Northern Alberta Railway.

Twenty-five-mile-an-hour winds sprang up to fan the flames and by May 13, 15 families were burned out of their homes. Other serious fires sprang up in the Chip Lake area, southwest of Edmonton, the Lac la Biche district, High Prairie, Sturgeon Lake and Buck Lake.

A total of 400 men, backed by bulldozers, turned out to stop the wall of flame that swept through the tinder-dry forests. High winds whipped up flames in the High Prairie area and 11 miles of fire line were lost as fire jumped across fire guards ploughed with bulldozers.

By the week-end rain and snow helped a little but new fires were reported at the first of the week.

Toiling crews of firefighters had fires under control at Breton, Whitecourt, Edson, Chip Lake, Grande Prairie and Peace River districts by the week-end.

In the Lesser Slave area, a fire line, nine miles wide in places, held the flames away from the best timber stands. On Saturday, slight rains eased the pressure and gave crews time to extend their fire lines.

Three new fires broke out in the Grouard, Fort Assiniboine and Lac la Biche districts but were kept under control. A steady down pour of rain Tuesday gave firefighters the final support they needed to bring the blazes under control.

Gas Pipeline Would Use 500,000,000 Cu. Ft. Daily

Announcement of plans to build a gas pipeline all the way from the Athabasca gas fields to B.C. and as far down the west coast as California has caused Albertans to stop and do a bit of thinking.

Albertans were aware that their natural resources are vast and some of the most abundant in North America. But the plans for the 1,400-mile gas pipeline to the coast was beginning to cause some concern.

Most Albertans wanted to see the province's natural resources developed and utilized to open up the west as a new industrial and commercial centre. They had seen the oil industry spring up overnight with all its accompanying prosperity and increased business.

Natural gas fields in Alberta have rivalled oil and coal in importance as fuel for the long, cold winters. But natural gas, like oil, is only a limited resource and the plans for the new coast pipeline caused Albertans some doubt as to the future of gas as a fuel reserve.

30-INCH LINE

According to estimates by the West Coast Transmission Company the 30-inch pipeline, costing $174,000,000 would pump out 500,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day to the Pacific Northwest and Northern California.

Officials predicted that once the gasline was built to Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, a duplicate line would have to be constructed. In addition a projected branch line would turn south-east at Ashcroft by B.C. and supply Vernon, Kelowna and the industrial centre of Trail.

To some citizens it seemed as if the pipeline would drain Alberta of its natural gas reserves in no time at all.

Political leaders, jockeying for positions in the coming federal election race were quick to reassure citizens of any doubts they might have about Alberta's natural resources.

Social Credit Leader Solon Low, said he favored export of oil and gas from Alberta only as long as it was a surplus over and above the needs of the people in the province. "What we do insist upon," said Low, is that the Alberta government shall have undisputed control of both export and conservation so that the needs of the people can be filled first."

Importance of the gas problem to the province came out in reports that the government was considering holding a special summer session of the legislature to tackle the gas export problem.

Harper Prowse, Liberal leader in the legislature, had brought up the question of gas exports before February's session of the legislature closed. The Socials had vaguely replied that a special session would be called if the "government deemed such a move necessary."

Last week, Premier Manning told newsmen a special session on gas exports may have to be called. No definite decision on the session would be made, he said, until the attorney-general's department prepares a report on export legislation.

Relocation of the Union Station and yards to the south edge of the city probably will be the last phase in the long range proposals to improve the heart of the Capital. The complete plan, shown in the above photo of the model, is for a large park surrounded by public buildings. First step will be the construction of a new bridge over the Rideau Canal between the present Plaza and Laurier Ave. bridges (top and bottom) to relieve congestion at the Plaza and divert heavy traffic away from Wellington Street in front of the Parliament Buildings. The bridge will be a joint federal-municipal project, the city providing the approaches and the government building the bridge. Funds are available in Parliament's initial $2,500,000 grant to the National Capital Fund last year. The plan recommends location of Ottawa's proposed new city hall on one of the bridge approaches, but the city has yet to decide on a site. The photo shows a suitable type of building at the east end of the new bridge (right). Large building lower left is the proposed National Institute of Fine Arts which would house, among other cultural institutions, the National Art Gallery of Canada, (Model constructed by the National Film Board.)

LEGAL LOCAL NEWS

LEGAL — The Legal people were very thankful for the rain that came in just when mostly needed.

Sunday afternoon a baseball game was played between the High School boys and the C.Y.O. The C.Y.O. lead 13-5 until the sixth inning, then the high school boys tied the game, so an extra inning was played to give the C.Y.O. winners a lead of 14-13.

This Sunday is the C.Y.O. Sunday in Legal. To start the day, we shall have general communion and then a breakfast served in the hall for all the members. In the afternoon, if all goes well, we shall have a ball game with another team. At night the C.Y.O. is sponsoring an amateur hour.

All those wishing to take part should give their names to Elga Montpetit. This is open to everybody, young and old, in musical numbers, recitation, dancing acts and even tumbling acts.

Everybody welcome! Two prizes of $5.00 each will be given to the winners.

From St. Albert, Old People's Home—Mrs. P. Laporte passed away last Friday. She was buried in Legal cemetery on Monday morning.

Mr. Messies also passed away Saturday. He was buried in St. Albert at the beginning of the week. Sympathy is offered to both families.

Sunday, June 5th, is the first communion for about 40 children. Father Jacob is now teaching them catechism.

Disastrous Fire Causes Loss

BRIEREVILLE — Mr. J. M. Anderson, of Brierville, lost his barn, two horses, a set of harness, four collars, forks, etc., in a recent fire. Unknown to anyone where the fire came from. It is believed though to have been caused by flying embers in the air, or matches dropped in the hay. He also had some hay and green feed bundles in the barn.

He had just returned from work and put his horses in the barn with the intentions of using them after supper. Mrs. Anderson happened to go outside and came hurrying in, telling him there was a fire at the barn. That was just about 45 minutes later. When he rushed down, his horses were already dead, and the top of the barn was blazing. He ran for help, fearing the fire would get to the house. Thank goodness it didn't.

Dry weather and fires caused this barn to burn.

We sure hope the rain comes before long, if it don't, someone else is liable to loose some buildings.

Accident Takes Life of Baby

LEGAL — Little Theresa Casuette, daughter of Henry Casuette, was fatally injured on Friday morning when the front wheel of a light delivery, driven by her father, pinned her to the ground.

Mr. Fred Martineau drove her to Westlock instantly whereupon Dr. Whissel declared the case as hopeless. Twenty-month old Baby Casuette died half an hour later. Although not being the only child, little Theresa will be missed terribly and everybody sympathizes greatly with the shocked family.

Canada's great Leader

LOUIS ST. LAURENT, Prime Minister of Canada

As in all democracies, the personality of the prime minister is one of the major facts of Canadian politics, and, inevitably, a major issue in a national election. At the polls on June 27 the voter must ask himself, ahead of anything else, who should be head of the state.

Considering the alternatives available, the answer to that question should not be difficult.

In Louis St. Laurent Canada has found not only a great national leader but the most typical Canadian in its public life.

That he had high abilities of the mind was proved by his career in law. That he had wisdom in cabinet, unique gifts in parliamentary debate and a quick grasp of large affairs became clear as soon as he entered the Government. In international affairs, as one of the original advocates of the Atlantic Pact, he made himself overnight a world figure who spoke out as no Canadian before him, in the councils of the nations.

But he has also revealed something much larger — an understanding of ordinary people, because he is one of them.

This warm and essentially simple human being is the real St. Laurent, the product of the small town, of humble beginnings, hard work, a big family and the friendliness of country neighbors.

In blood, language and instincts he is the compact of our two great races. In character he is the quiet, homely and practical stuff of which the nation is made.

To the voter it is equally important that St. Laurent is the leader of a truly national party, with proved strength from coast to coast, the only party which can hope to form a stable government after the election. And not merely by office, but by unchallenged mastery of government, he is the leader of all the Canadian people.

St. Laurent's achievements as an international statesman, his government's achievements of debt reduction, tax reduction and increasing social security ALONE justify the election of him and his government.

ANIMALS HAVE FIELD DAY IN CITY

The spring horshow and the Shrine Circus both took somewhat of a back seat this week compared to the antics of some animals in the Edmonton district.

During the week-end:

(1) Eleven horses ran away from an undisciplined destination, thundered over several gardens and lots in the vicinity of the airport. All but three of the nags returned home, wherever that was.

(2) Two dogs took after two goats in the Calder district. Last reports indicated the dogs had not caught the goats.

(3) A woodpecker made a determined attempt to demolish a stucco and frame apartment building in the West End. Result: a chipped apartment block; a dented beak for the woodpecker.

(4) Earlier two calves had broken out of their pens wandered around the city for awhile and then returned. Two pigs did the same but stayed in the vicinity and uprooted gardens.

Advertising Greater Force Behind Sales Than Ever Before

HAMILTON. — Retailers now recognize newspaper advertising as a greater force behind sales than ever before, John Giesen, director of the retail division, American Newspaper Publishers association's bureau of advertising said.

Mr. Giesen, one of the speakers at the retail clinic of the international affiliation of sales and advertising clubs conference scheduled arrived here today.

He said in an interview that retailers now are investing more money in the medium which produced sales. He saw no ceiling at the moment on retail advertising programs in newspapers.

North Boomtown Hits New Records in May

Edmonton, the west's most rapidly expanding city, continued to hit new records for the month of May.

By the end of last week, home building for this year was twice as great as at the same time last year (1,000 permits issued compared with 622 last year).

Chortled the conservative Edmonton Journal in a news story, "The month is turning out to be the greatest in Edmonton building history."

And no one could deny the figures. Developments were coming so fast during the past two weeks that they were almost too much to keep track of.

Home and industrial building figures continued to soar, and one of the big announcements last week was that a $1,000,000 South Side steel products plant would be built by Edaco (Canada) Ltd., subsidiary of the British firm's English Drilling Equipment Co. Ltd., and English Steel Corporation Ltd.

NEW PLANT

Construction has begun on four acres between 79 and 80 avenues, on the west side of 101 street, and the plant will eventually turn out oil well drilling bits and mud pump equipment. It plans to have a three-million-dollar turnover each year.

Hundreds of home permits are being issued each month, and dozens of business and industrial firms are expanding. The law and order business has expanded, too, and civic and provincial authorities are discussing enlargement of the city police station.

Edmonton's industrial commissioner, G. W. Curtis, wrote an article for Western Business, and gave figures that would astonish anyone.

PERMITS

Building permit values have increased from $5 million dollars in 1944 to $27 million in 1948, and this year's estimates are $64 million.

These spectacular construction figures are reflected by bank clearing figures, and Mr. Curtis quoted official figures showing that Edmonton's business increased from almost $218 million in 1940 to almost $600 million last year.

This city has Canada's busiest airport, and handles more air freight than any city in the world. Landings in 1948 topped all records with a total of 82,500, and this year's is expected to be 100,000.

The population increase has been almost as imposing. In 1940, Edmonton had almost 92,000 people; this year census takers are expected to report an increase of 10,000 over last year to make the total about 136,000—almost 50 per cent in 10 years.

And this week another small sign of Edmonton's reputation as a boom city came forth.

Gene Autry, king of the singing cowboys, contacted the Chamber of Commerce about visiting here.

of Nordegg Sunday.

"We never should have strayed so far from the others," said Bunio, when he and Chawrun arrived, weak and exhausted.

"We trudged through 10 inches of snow and followed a small creek for ten miles in both directions," Bunio continued.

The two men built a small fire and spent Monday night beside it, before setting out in a blizzard in search of camp or companions.

Meanwhile the other eight members of the missing crew had been found by a search party.

AIR TRAFFIC CONTROL

Britain is establishing air corridors ten miles wide. They will form a system of aviation highways at heights of between 5,000 and 11,000 feet. This will ensure safer flying and prevent collisions between aircraft even in poor visibility. Both civil and military planes will be expected to conform to this new form of control.

When the truth hurts an enterprise, there is something wrong with the undertaking.

Socialism Not Answer To Economic Ills Pope Declares

VATICAN CITY.—Pope Pius has told Roman Catholics that socialism cannot be the answer to the world's economic ills.

The answer must be found in contracts between employers and workers which preserve the authority of the employer while providing for "the prosperity of all the members of the people," the pontiff said.

The Pope spoke a Saturday night to delegations of Roman Catholic employers from Britain, Canada, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Italy. The text of his speech, delivered in French, was released by the Vatican.

Missing Men Find Way Back After Much Wandering

Fire Fighters Had Only Dead Hawk to Eat In Day

NORDEGG.—Two Nordegg firefighters, missing since Monday night, wandered into town Wednesday while a crew of 500 combed fireweed timberland in search of them.

Bill Chawrun and Andrew Bunio, separated from a group of 12 firefighters survived for 24 hours in a ravished bushland with only a dead hawk for food.

The men said they left the others after the party became lost in dense underbrush, to try to locate a river or road which would guide them back to camp.

The missing men were part of a crew of 140 volunteer firefighters from Nordegg, 160 miles southwest of Edmonton, brought out to fight a fire. It had been spotted by a lookout patrol 14 miles northeast

This System outlived the TOTAL lives of four other makes

A totally independent testing organization put five makes of shallow well water systems through severe breakdown runs. The Fairbanks-Morse unit outlasted not only the four others individually, but actually the total of the other four combined.

FAIRBANKS-MORSE SHALLOW WELL WATER SYSTEMS

For lifts of 22 feet or less

SELF-OILING • DOUBLE-ACTING • SELF-PRIMING

A water supply system is an important investment, both in dollars and in the service which you should get from it. You want to get the full supply of water you need, and to have it for as many years as possible without breakdown. Even a Fairbanks-Morse unit carries a tag showing, not just the rated capacity, but the actual delivery of water to the tank, certified by an independent laboratory.

The unit illustrated supplies 250 gallons per hour, but larger sizes are available delivering up to 580 gallons.

EXCLUSIVE HARDENED CRANKSHAFT

The hardened and precision-ground crankshaft, running in two large bearings is another of the important reasons for efficient, smooth operation and prolonged life.

HIGH EFFICIENCY, TOO

This compact water system pumps both on the forward and the backward strokes of the piston assuring smoothness and equalizing the load on the motor. This gives still greater efficiency and longer life.
